Sponsorship Guide 2022

We are delighted to confirm that the Kent and Medway Apprenticeship Graduation organising partners and supporting key stakeholders are now planning the fourth Kent and Medway Apprentice Graduation Ceremony.

Following the successful 2021 virtual ceremony, which saw record numbers of participating graduates we are pleased to confirm plans to once again return to Rochester Cathedral for a formal graduation ceremony format, to ensure the best experience for our amazing graduating apprentices, friends and family, their employers, provider partners and our VIP sponsors.

This sponsorship guide is designed to give your organisation or business, an opportunity to be one of those VIP sponsors at an appropriate level and range of benefits.

Great reasons to be a sponsor

Be part of something special...

The Kent and Medway ceremony is one of just a few such events taking place nationally in 2022. Our 2021 event was the biggest nationally to undertake and deliver a virtual ceremony, which recognised the achievements of 297 Level 2 to degree level apprentices, despite the Covid 19 pandemic impacting on so many apprentices, their employers and training providers.

Recognise apprentices and their role during and in recovery from the pandemic...

As the pandemic continues in 2022, supporting and recognising the incredible value of apprentices to employers and the economy is crucial. Many apprentices, employers and providers have overcome huge challenges to complete and achieve apprenticeship programmes. Equally, many apprentices have continued to undertake critical worker roles during the pandemic in industries such as health and care, logistics, education and training, retail, hospitality and catering and many more, but notably within NHS organisations.

Get a head start on the skills agenda...

In January 2021, the Government published ambitious intentions to support education and skills training in its Skills White Paper – Skills for Jobs: Lifelong Learning for Opportunity and Growth, which places work-based and employer led skills and training, and notably apprentices at the heart of the national recovery. 2022 will see several initiatives commence that aim to help economic recovery, carbon reduction and key industry workforce sustainability. Apprentices will be a key part in many of these developments.

Simply celebrate amazing apprentices...

At this crucial time, we hope that through the event, you'll join us in helping encourage more individuals to consider apprenticeships as a valued pathway to a rewarding career. We also hope by working with us, that we can ensure more employers realise the value of apprentices in enhancing their businesses workforce skills, future talent and success.
